Nine States Have News Immunity

Newspaperman's Code Has Failed to Pass in Several States of Nation

Lawyers Assisted

Arkansas Bar Group Helped to Get Bill Passed

(By The Associated Press)

Never violate a trust; never reveal the source of information obtained in confidence.

This unwritten code of ethics of the newsman is protected by law in only nine states, a survey showed today.

However, bills to grant newsmen legal immunity from making known the sources of published information were introduced in the New York Legislature Monday.

The move for such a law started after the news editor and a reporter for the Newburgh (N.Y.) News were fined $100 each and sentenced to 10 days in jail for contempt. They refused to tell an Orange county grand jury where they obtained "numbers" lottery tickets reproduced by their paper in an anti-gambling campaign.

They were released yesterday in custody of their attorney after serving five days.

States granting newsmen such immunity are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

California passed a law in 1935 granting newsmen partial exemption. It forbids the Legislature to charge newsmen with contempt but does not prevent their criminal prosecution in courts for refusing to tell the source of their information.

Attempts to pass a law exempting newsmen have failed in several states, including Kansas, Missouri, Georgia, Florida and New Hampshire.

In most of the remaining states, no full-fledged effort has been made to get such legal immunity on the law books or the issue has not come to the fore.

Charter Group Plans Hearing March 9

A public hearing will be held by the Charter Revision Commission at the city hall on Tuesday, March 9 at 7:30 p. m., it was decided at a meeting of that group Tuesday night.

The purpose of the hearing, according to chairman John J. Schwenk, is to receive suggestions from the public relating to the revision of the charter and "bringing it up to date."

Following the Common Council meeting Tuesday night, members of the council met with the Charter Revision Committee and held an informal discussion on several questions of city government. It was emphasized by Chairman Schwenk that at this point the members of the commission have reached no conclusions. They are studying the merits of various systems of city government and are open to suggestions, he said.

Civil Service Move To County Held Up For Further Study

Employe Groups Oppose Transfer; Newkirk Points Out Rights Won't Be Cut

With several new communications filed with the Common Council Tuesday night on the proposed transfer of the functions of the Municipal Civil Service Commission to Ulster county, the matter was allowed to remain in the Laws and Rules Committee for further study.

Two communications were received from the Civil Service Employees' Association, Inc., Ulster Chapter, one stating that the chapter had voted their disapproval of the proposed transfer, and the other asking that the council rescind its resolution of January 6 abolishing the municipal commission. A similar communication was received from Local 316, American Federation of Municipal Employees.

The letter of February 16 from Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk relative to the civil service commission transfer was also read to the council. In this letter (reported in full in The Freeman on Saturday, February 21), the mayor stated that the transfer of the administration of local civil service to the county "would not affect at all the existing rights of city employees."

He assured city employees that in the event of such a transfer no city employee would lose any competitive class rights; they would not be "thrown together in a single group with county employees," and jobs in the city service would not be opened to residents of the county outside the city.

Committee Has 'Arrow'

Another matter which was allowed to remain in committee for further study was that of the proposed removal of the "green arrow" traffic signals at Clinton avenue and Albany avenue and at Washington avenue and Hurley avenue.

A letter from the Smith Avenue Storage Warehouse, Inc., stated that that corporation wanted to go on record as opposing the removal of the "green arrow" signals. The letter claims that the signals are not a danger to pedestrians because "there is always a break in traffic to permit one to cross."

A request for the erection of another "green arrow" at the corner of Abel street and Wurts street was received from the Downtown Business Men's Association. The signal would be placed on Wurts street allowing north-bound traffic to turn right into Abel street, thus routing them to Broadway and the business section.

Both of these letters were filed with the Traffic Control Committee.

Also filed with the Traffic Control Committee were several resolutions. One, offered by Alderman Schatzel, would change the location of bus stops to the far corner instead of the near corners of the street, so that the bus could cross the intersecting street before stopping. Board Adjourns, Takes No Action on Bond Issue or Compromise Measure

Plan Is Upheld

Committee Finds Bid Reasonable, Necessary to City

A committee report recommending the approval of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk's request for a $200,000 bond issue for highway construction, purchase of new equipment and other purposes failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds vote by the Common Council at their regular March meeting Tuesday night.

After much discussion the council adjourned without taking action upon the bond issue or upon any compromise measure. It is necessary for a bond issue to be passed by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Council.

The six Democratic members of the council voted together to prevent the passage of the committee's recommendation. Their objection, as voiced by Alderman John Buboltz, minority member of the Finance, Ways and Means Committee which presented the report, was the fact that they wanted more time to study the item of some $70,000 for the purchase of new equipment. He stated that the minority party "does not want to hold the Superintendent of the Board of Public Works up on his street project," and said they would vote in favor of a bond issue of $128,000 to cover the cost of street improvements, the proposed diversion chamber for the sewage treatment plant, and the employment of a lunch room, and give future consideration to the amount for new equipment.

However, this offer to split the bond issue was not accepted, and the council adjourned without taking further action on the matter. Alderman James E. Martin, Republican, of the Twelfth Ward, moved for a recess for one week "to give the minority members further time to consider the issue," but after an objection by Alderman Thomas F. Coughlin, a motion for adjournment was made by Alderman Paul Zucca. The adjournment carried unanimously.

In objecting to a recessed meeting, Coughlin pointed out that the council met four times during February. "Are we going to do the same thing this month?" he asked. "Pretty soon we'll be meeting on Sunday mornings," he said.

The Finance, Ways and Means Committee, in its report signed by the two majority members, Joseph N. Bruck and Paul J. Schatzel, stated that the request of appropriations for various improvements "is reasonable and quite necessary for the welfare and operation of the city during the year 1948. We have considered each item and find that the projects asked for are essential."

The report recommended that a bond issue totaling $201,600 be authorized, to be used as follows: Purchase of motor vehicles, $16,000; purchase of machinery, $16,000; purchase of original equipment, $17,000; street improvements, $100,000; sewage disposal system, $27,000; construction and additional highway building, $1,600.

After Alderman Zucca moved the report be accepted, Alderman Coughlin said, "We want it understood that the minority members are in favor of $128,000 for street improvement, the diversion chamber and the lunch room. We realize the superintendent of the Board of Public Works must prepare his program early. For that reason we will at no time try to stop the program. However, we feel we should have a little more time for study of the purchase of new equipment."

Inconsistency Charged

Alderman Schatzel charged that the minority "have an inconsistent view. They want the streets fixed, but they won't give him (the superintendent) the equipment to do it."

Alderman Bruck stated that, according to Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding, it costs more to keep the old equipment in repair than to buy new equipment in the long run.

Alderman Zucca pointed out that it takes considerable time to

Alecca's Jacket Found in New York Harbor, Son Says

Clothing Recovered When Police Grappling Is Done; Bruhn Awaits Report

A jacket worn by Charles Alecca, 48, of 187 North street, who was reported missing from a barge of The Hutton Company docked off Varick street, New York, was brought from the Hudson river during police grappling operations. Michael Alecca, son of the missing barge captain reported today.

Information obtained to date, the son said, indicated that the coat was the one worn by the local man when he was last seen by a watchman on the dock at midnight last Thursday.

The barge was docked at the lower Manhattan pier last Wednesday and had been transported to a transfer point in the metropolitan area, the son said.

The family became concerned, Michael said, when the barge captain failed to appear in this city on a visit which he had planned last Friday. He had expected to be at his home at about noon. He was not reported missing, however, until it was discovered that he did not appear on the barge Monday.

Workers at the dock knew that the Kingston man had arranged for a trip home Friday and made no investigation of the barge until it failed to appear Monday. They found his work clothes still hanging in the cabin, the son said.

The jacket, not a heavy coat, was brought from the water not far from the barge, but other grappling in the immediate area was without result to date.

The watchman, who last saw the local man, the son reported, is stationed at a point from 400 to 500 feet away from the barge.

Deputy Sheriff Anthony Alecca, brother of the missing man, said today that the New York police had obtained no additional information to shed light on the disappearance of his brother, other than the finding of the jacket.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn is cooperating in the effort to obtain all information possible and he expected to hear from the New York authorities later today.

It's a Threat! Record Snowfall of 1941-45 May Lose Whiskers

Aunt Effie, who gaily predicted last week that Spring's a-comin', today is hiding her red face in Uncle Willy's flannel shirt reserved for firemen's parades.

Source of Effie's chagrin is this morning's and left nine more inches of snow in the area, including Willy's front sidewalk.

Cousin Sprout, who drops by the city engineer's office every day to get data for his weather diary, said this winter's fall is only six inches shy of the record. The most, he said, came in 1944-45 for a total of 76 inches. This year we've had 70 1/2 inches. Maybe, he says, we'll get more and bust that record. Could be.

Kerkhonkson, March 3.—Plans for the canvassing of the Town of Wawarsing's X-ray survey, which will be conducted later this month, were formulated during a meeting Tuesday night at the Kerkhonkson High School, Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, co-chairman, said today.

Two Newburgh News Employees Are Freed Pending Court Decision After 5 Days in Jail

White Plains, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—After five days in jail, two Newburgh newspapermen were free today pending a court decision on a fight against penalties imposed on them for refusing to reveal to a grand jury their confidential sources of information.

The newsmen, Douglas V. Clarke, 33, news editor of the Newburgh (N. Y.) News, and Charles L. Leonard, 27, a reporter on the paper, were released last yesterday in custody of their lawyer.

The release without bail was ordered by State Supreme Court Justice Frank H. Coyne. He reversed decision on habeas corpus proceedings attacking their conviction for contempt of court, which brought 10-day jail sentences and $100 fines.

They had been in the Orange county jail at Newburgh since Friday.

Defense Attorney John M. Flanagan told Justice Coyne that although no state law yet gives a newsman the right to protect the sources of his information from a prosecutor or inquisitorial body, the courts have power to recognize the confidential relationship.

"It is a relationship which should be fostered for the best interests of the community in general," Flanagan contended.

He argued that writs of habeas corpus should be granted on the ground the newsmen had not had opportunity to prepare their defense before sentence was imposed by State Supreme Court Justice J. Gordon Flannery.

Orange County District Attorney Stanley B. Johnston did not ask that bail be acquired.

Clarke and Leonard refused to reveal to an Orange county grand jury, investigating charges of gambling in Newburgh, the source of a lottery ticket reproduced in their newspaper.

The district attorney, consenting to the release, noted that

Court Rules City Had Right to Fire Fogarty

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—A Supreme Court justice ruled today the Newburgh city council was within its rights in dismissing Joseph A. Fogarty as city manager.

The action before Justice J. Gordon Flannery was brought in behalf of Fogarty who sought review of the city council proceedings because no actual charges were filed against him.

Justice Flannery ruled that under the Newburgh city charter the elected city manager could be dismissed without the filing of charges. Since February 10, when the council ordered his dismissal, Fogarty has been serving under a court stay of the council's proceedings. William McIntyre has been appointed the new city manager.

Bills to protect newspapermen from revealing the sources of published information were introduced in the Legislature Monday night. They have failed of passage in previous years.

Man of Mystery and Miracles Entertains at Ladies' Night

Jacques Romano, heralded as the man of miracles and mystery, who mystifies, baffles and bewilders, lived up to all advance notices in his appearance at the Rotary Ladies' Night at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Tuesday evening.

Versed in the wisdom of ancient philosophy and a student of psychic phenomena, magic and mysticism of the Orient, he not only demonstrated astounding mental control of the body but also an eerie faculty of interpreting characteristics of the dead, the latter with the aid of Arthur C. Camel driver at one time in the Far East and having traveled in all parts of the world and able to speak 14 different languages, the entertainer gave an enlightening and entertaining account of some of his travels.

Consistent with his unique entertainment, his recipes for the making of coffee and preparing of fruit juices were equally unusual.

The Rotary entertainer, who is 35 years young, declared that the secret of his youthfulness and vigor was principally due to three main reasons: He never worries, he never fears and never hates. Any of these failings, he said, would shorten anyone's life. Fear and hate, in his opinion, were the causes of the recent world wars.

Having visited secluded retreats in the Orient, where he learned much of the esoteric life and mental control over the body he compared that philosophy with the modern trend of psychology.

State C.I.O. Votes
P.A.C. to Replace
A.L.P. in New York

New York, March 3 (AP)—The state C.I.O.'s Executive Board voted yesterday for immediate establishment of a political action committee to replace the American Labor Party as the union's political arm in New York.

The action was announced by C.I.O. State Chairman Louis Hollander who said the projected P.A.C. would embrace the national C.I.O. policy of opposition to the third party presidential candidacy of Henry A. Wallace. Wallace was endorsed by the A.L.P.

Decision to set up the committee was approved by board officials representing 302,000 union members, Hollander said. But it drew opposition from the representatives of 165,000 others, he added.

The A.L.P.'s endorsement of the Wallace candidacy resulted in the party "automatically" ceasing to represent the state C.I.O. politically, the chairman said.

P.A.C. units will be set up in every political subdivision of the state, Hollander said, adding that their organization will be mapped by union leaders at a meeting to be held within a few days. Jack Kroll, national C.I.O.-P.A.C. chairman, will attend the session.

The decision to form the state committee raised the prospect of a clash with the New York City P.A.C., which is operated by the greater New York City C.I.O. Council. The city group has taken no affirmative action on the Wallace candidacy. But it supported Rep. Leo Isaacson, newly-elected A.L.P. congressman, who ran with Wallace's blessing in last month's special election in the Bronx.

Sam Mills, secretary of the city C.I.O. council, indicated the local organization would resist any move by a state P.A.C. to operate here, on the ground that it would be in violation of the city group's jurisdiction.

Hollander declared: "C.I.O. as well as state P.A.C.'s are merely agencies of the National C.I.O. They are not autonomous and must follow the policy set down by the parent organization."

Wicks' Tipping Bill
Passes in Senate

New York Senators, presumably good tippers, voted Tuesday to outlaw "kickbacks" to employers.

They passed unanimously a bill making it illegal for employers to require remittance of tips given their employees.

The bill passed without debate. However, some of the lawmakers had said previously they weren't happy that the tip was passed out—or at least a portion of the tips—went into the bosses' pockets.

The measure, sponsored by Republican Senator Arthur E. Wicks of Kingston, was sent to the Assembly. Wicks is president of the Governor Clinton Hotel Corporation, this city.

Violations of the proposed law would be punishable as a misdemeanor.

The bill, endorsed by the State Federation of Labor, is aimed primarily at concessionaires.

Dairy Farmers Are Told They Have to Step Up Production

County dairymen will have to increase milk sold per man on the farm "in order to make a good living during the next few years," Albert Kurdt, county agricultural agent, told about 90 dairymen and others interested at a recent session in Rosendale launching the Dairy Farm Management Program.

"This program is designed to help do just that," the agent told the dairymen, representatives of the industry and those from organizations interested.

New York farmers have doubled production per man since 1900, the agent stressed, but they can still step it up. Industry has tripled production per man-hour in that time, and dairymen can do just as well, he said, stressing that the point is to reduce work and cost—not to work longer or harder.

Edmund Osterhout outlined the major aims of the program. First attack will be made on reducing labor—some of the things that can be done are rearranging equipment, remodeling barns, taking the unnecessary steps out of work. And this program will help you do it, he said.

Then there will be a concentrated effort to control mastitis, Dr. Edgar W. Tucker told the audience that the regional veterinary laboratories are ready to help. He outlined the economic importance of mastitis and gave some important steps in its control.

And finally the attack will be directed toward producing better milk, he said, by better handling of cows and equipment. Mr. Kurdt said this help will go to dairymen through every possible avenue—meetings, radio and news stories, and tours. Among other things there will be a special series of printed letters, provided by the state-wide program of the Ulster County and the College Dairy Committee. And he urged any dairyman who is not on the Farm Bureau mailing list to ask to have his name added to the list to receive these letters—they will be covering a lot of useful information during the next two years.

Vernon A. Barnhart, chairman of the Farm Bureau Dairy Committee which sponsors this program, presided at the meeting. 4-H Clubs are cooperating by following through all the way for their members.

Security Swindlers Gain, Goldstein Declares

New York, March 3 (AP)—Reports of securities swindles have increased so greatly in the past six months that the state has set up a special new bureau to protect investors.

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, saying "more and more sharpshooters are moving into the securities field," announced the counter-move yesterday.

Goldstein said: "Whether it is because money is still generally easy while profits are not, or whether it is because many wartime rackets in other fields have finally collapsed, is not clear. But it is certain that the citizen who desires to invest has become a prime target for unscrupulous operators."

He said the new bureau was established so the state may "be forewarned against further infiltration of swindlers into the securities market places."

John W. M. Huttenberg, assistant attorney general, has been appointed head of the bureau. He will be aided by four assistant attorneys general and an accounting, investigating and office staff.

Doctor Says Girl Told Him Man Did Not Want to Marry

New York, March 3 (AP)—A doctor, testifying at the trial of two other physicians on manslaughter charges in the death of 22-year-old Jane Ward after an alleged abortion, said yesterday she told him her "only problem" was that the man responsible "does not want to marry me."

The witness, Dr. Alejandro Ovalle, said he secured the services of the two defendants at the request of Eduardo Schneidewind, who has testified he had intimate relations with the girl.

The defendants are Dr. Oswald Glasberg, 49, and Dr. Paul Singer, 43, New York city doctors. The girl, daughter of Ralph Ward, head of Drake Bakeries, Inc., died last October 28.

Dr. Ovalle, who is under indictment for manslaughter in the same case but has been granted a separate trial, testified for the prosecution. He said he met Schneidewind at a cocktail party and that later Schneidewind asked him if he could obtain a doctor to perform an abortion.

Schneidewind brought Miss Ward to his office, Dr. Ovalle said, but he did not examine her because she said that had been done previously by her family doctor. Schneidewind has testified he could not marry Miss Ward because he has a wife in Argentina, from whom he is only informally separated.

Schneidewind claimed that he paid Dr. Ovalle $2,000, and Dr. Ovalle testified he gave Dr. Glasberg $900 for the alleged operation.

Under cross-examination yesterday by Dr. Singer's counsel, Dr. Ovalle said he had not returned the $1,100 balance to Schneidewind.

THE PUBLIC INTEREST

Senator Desmond's newspaper confidence bill, which would protect newspapermen from being forced to divulge their sources of published information, was approved by the Senate in 1946 but killed by the Assembly Rules Committee.

It would seem that the members of the Senate in 1946 had in mind just what happened in Newburgh the past week, where two men had in their possession policy slips and lottery tickets and were fined. But two employees of the Newburgh News were jailed because their paper printed reproductions of policy slips and the newspapermen refused to tell the sources and thereby violate a confidence.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Flannery declared that he was compelled to do his duty since the Court of Appeals has ruled that newspaper sources could not be regarded as privileged unless the Legislature so enacted.

The remedy, therefore, lies with the legislators, whom we believe should pass the bill at this session.

We do not call for passage of this measure because it is something particularly beneficial to the newspapers. There is a very real public interest involved. Without this privilege newspapermen cannot render the community the service to which it is entitled.

It is in the light of this public interest that we ask for the passage of the measure.

AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES

Kingston was a safer city for both the pedestrian and motorist during the past year than were most other cities in the country. The findings are by the National Safety Council and are based on a survey of 382 cities.

According to the survey, the traffic fatalities in this city amounted to a rate of 4.0 deaths per 100,000 population, comparing favorably with a rate of 22.3 per 100,000 for the country as a whole and with the record of other cities in the 25,000 to 50,000 size group, 10.5 per 100,000. The New York state rate was 13.3.

On the basis of motor vehicle fatalities per 10,000 registered cars, Kingston also was ahead. Its figure was 1.2 while other cities of its size averaged 3.1 for every 10,000 cars.

The year's toll from motor vehicle accidents adds up to the appalling total of 32,000 persons killed and 1,100,000 injured and $800,000,000 in property damaged or destroyed.

The total economic cost of traffic accidents, including time lost by people incapacitated, is set at the staggering figure of $2,200,000,000 by the Safety Council.

WHAT THEY DON'T KNOW

The notion that college students know nothing outside of sports and social events gets some support from a poll of Arizona State College freshmen. Only seven per cent, according to this, knew about the Truman Doctrine, only 22 per cent about the Marshall Plan, and 20 per cent had never heard of General Eisenhower.

There is the possibility that the boys were kidding. Probably if the question had been put to them, a sizable percentage would have denied ever hearing of the United States of America.

A MODERN WASHINGTON

The Washington family seems less of a historic myth when a flesh and blood member of the clan appears on the American scene. So it was news when Dorothy Anne Washington, a descendant of George's half-brother Lawrence, received a master of science degree the other day. It was more news that she received this from George Washington University, which the first George had founded with a legacy of 20 shares of canal stock. The University is in Washington, D. C., and Miss Washington lives in Washington.

Miss Washington majored in zoology. Her illustrious antecedent would have been flabbergasted had he thought his canal stock would be used by nice young women bent on studying about animals. But there's a

JIM FARLEY'S BOOK

Jim Farley tells a story in his book which to me is extremely interesting because since Franklin D. Roosevelt torpedoed the London Economic Conference, there has been no authentic explanation for his conduct, except the lame statements of Henry Morgenthau, Jr. Many students of such problems believe that had Roosevelt not stabbed that Conference in the back, there would have been no war.

But that as it may, Jim Farley says: "I do know that the collapse of the conference offered comfort to the opposition, who had been silenced by the accomplishments of the administration up to that time. It was a reversal, though it did not seem to be a major one. It is my conviction that the President wrecked the conference because he thought bankers, whom he had castigated in his inaugural address, were engaged in a great international plot against him. I say this, because he told me Thomas Lamont of J. P. Morgan and Company was responsible for Herbert Bayard Swope's being on the American delegation. Lamont thought that Swope might have some influence on Moley in connection with the stabilization scheme. FDR said Lamont had placed someone on the boat to contact Swope and Moley. He was quite incensed about this, saying Lamont was a personal friend and should not have acted so."

All this shows how Roosevelt liked 'fishwives' tales and believed them. I am supposed to have been the person that Tom Lamont placed on the boat to contact Swope and Moley. I heard it for years but I never believed that the President of the United States lacked the means to discover that that was untrue or that he would ruin the world on its account.

True, I was on the ship, but so were hundreds of others. I was there on business of my own. I knew Swope, who early in my career gave me a job. I did not know Moley and when we met, we got into a fierce argument on silver. I regarding myself an expert on the subject because I lost money buying some of it in China. Moley said that losing money is no sign of expertness, in which, alas, I agree with him.

As for Tom Lamont, he never discussed the Conference except one morning in London when we did talk about the Chinese Consortium, an enterprise which he headed and with which I was familiar. I no more represented him than I represented Franklin D. Roosevelt.

As for Swope's bargaining into the American delegation as Morgan man, that is just plain lie. I do not mean that Farley is untruthful; I mean that Roosevelt was. The evidence:

"Western Union
Received at 70 Main Street, Hempstead, N. Y.
NR116 71—Whitehouse Washington, DC June 16, 1933

Herbert Bayard Swope
Sandpoint, N.Y.
Would be delighted if you could accompany Raymond Moley for short visit to London. Stop I am sending him soon and feel your presence would be exceedingly helpful to him and country in many ways. Stop I should be personally grateful to have you do this having confidence as I do in your judgment as to your wide knowledge of international affairs. Stop you would be absent from this country only about a month.

Franklin D. Roosevelt.
In a word, Roosevelt sent Swope to London to "be exceedingly helpful" to Moley and the country. But that is not what Roosevelt told Jim Farley. He told him Swope was a "fishwife" and a "political personality" becoming increasingly vivid. Apparently, he was a vindictive man who took it out of the hides of those who crossed him. Read Farley on the purges:

"I just won't go along with Carter Glass on any appointment in Virginia. He (Roosevelt) was almost peevish. Am I going to go along with Walter George in Georgia? That's final."

Jim Farley has written a rare book, an honest book. He takes the blame when it is his. He gives praise to Roosevelt where praise is due. He is truthful as to the facts. Petty partisans, small souls that were permitted to peep through keyholes or peer over transoms, will criticize him, but the historian will use this volume as basic source material. That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.
PREVENTING RHEUMATISM

While twinges in joints are common and most of us do right in continuing to use the joint or joints, it must be remembered that the oldest enemy of mankind—rheumatism—starts by causing slight pain or discomfort in a joint or muscle. This means that while we may continue to use the joint (unless it is swollen), we should consult our physician and dentist as to the possibility of infection being present. This prevention of arthritis may save pain and crippling in future years.

It is true, of course, that there are other factors entering into the causation and aggravation of rheumatism, but infection is the commonest cause, and all physicians look and search for the commonest cause first. The commonest places in which infection is found are the tonsils, teeth, sinuses, gall bladder, large intestine, the generative organs in both men and women.

Perhaps, next to infection, the commonest cause of aggravation of rheumatism is eating too much starch—food, potatoes, sugar, bread, pastry. This fact was shown several years ago by Dr. Alton Fletcher of Toronto and Dr. Ralph Pemberton of Philadelphia. I recently spoke of an arthritis specialist who put all his cases of chronic rheumatism on a two-day fast, and then cut down by one-half on all starch foods.

Another common cause of rheumatism is poor circulation of blood in and about the joint. It is in these cases that there are many, that heat, electricity, massage, light exercise, excellent results. It has been known for many years that cold and dampness may cause or aggravate a rheumatic condition. However, it is not so well known that emotional disturbances—worry or mental strain, nervous shock—can cause or aggravate rheumatism. So, don't neglect the twinges or pain in joints or muscles. Getting rid of infection, cutting down on starch foods, plenty of rest, light exercise and avoiding mental and physical fatigue may prevent rheumatism.

Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis
Sufferers with chronic rheumatism and arthritis will find many helpful suggestions as to diet, heat, massage, and other aids in Dr. Barton's booklet entitled "Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis." good bit happening in the Potomac River valley that would surprise George, and Lawrence, too.

A man attains distinction when his mere memories become memoirs.

What the use? No sooner does a fellow start thinking he has got a strangle hold on this queer world and its people, than things change and he has to start all over again.

It's hardly worth while for puzzled citizens these days to inquire what's going on in Washington—the fellows there don't seem to know. Sometimes we wonder if anyone does.

It, Alone, Won't Help This Man's Ills Much, Doc!

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In studying the strange political policy or spirit of the New York Herald Tribune one comes up with Communists and friends and associates of Communists who are lavishly publicized, usually in praise.

Much of the reading matter in a metropolitan paper is yes-and-no copy. It isn't news but feature stuff, leave it out and nobody is deprived except the stupid who might have been advertised free but won't. As between a fellow who runs with the Communists and one who opposes and shuns them, an editor can make an arbitrary choice.

As a starting point of these essays, I return to the observation of Joe Davies, our ambassador to Moscow, who wrote that Joe Barnes, the foreign-editor and, in reality the policy editor of the Herald Tribune, was a "radical" and that Mrs. Barnes was "much more radical" than her husband.

That makes a pretty radical combination in charge of the policy of a paper which used to be a well-edited, well-written, conscientious Republican party organ. Howard Barnes, the drama editor of the H-T is the brother of Joe, the policy-maker.

By a rule of values that baffles me, the theatrical department had shown a crush on a Broadway gag-writer named Carson Kanin. His great work is a comedy called "Born Yesterday." In this, he exalted the New Republic and thus, inferentially, Henry Wallace, its front editor until recently. Kanin personified free enterprise as an illiterate, larcenous junk-dealer and the U. S. Congress as a sniveling thief. The show has some laughs and a pretty blonde.

Kanin seems to be no Communist himself for he has made careful arrangements to get out of his tawdry play every dollar that the law allows.

The Herald Tribune has been crazy over Kanin and the play and the infatuation even extended to a show by Donald Ogden Stewart, of Hollywood, who has been mentioned in connection with more Red fronts than Stalin himself in the congressional investigations. Kanin was the producer.

All actors, producers and press-agents know that a two-column headline in the H-T's Sunday drama layout is a great prize. Just casually I have noted in the Sunday section two three-column pictures and one two-column caricature for Kanin's interests, and a half dozen gratuitous puffs of artificial text. One picture was just a dumb, vague photograph of a bunch of people in common clothes sitting around, reading. They were the cast of this new play of Stewart's, about to be produced by Kanin. It was called "How I Wonder" and it had an egg. There was absolutely nothing but personal favor to explain this free advertising.

By what rule was this 'space' given to this dull picture about a play soon to prove a turkey, by a mediocre old has-been notorious for his politics, produced by a fellow who runs with the Bolsheviks? I don't know.

Why not give space away to people noted for their Americanism if you profess to be a Republican paper? Let the Daily Worker and Marshall Field's thing root for their team, but let us root for ours.

There are plenty of good playwrights and pretty blondes on our team.

In Washington the information that Stewart, on an income of $95,000 a year, listed for deduction 25 cents for a veterans' poppy and ten cents for the March of Dimes didn't even cause amusement, much less indignation. When you are used to this fellow and his kind, you know what to expect.

Kanin has no registered political record in Washington. But he did appear as a witness for Carl Aldo Marzani, an Italian-born Communist spy who planted himself in the American cloak and dagger service of the army for non-dangerous duties in the war and twice sneaked into our State Department as an employee. Marzani used the Communist party alias of Tony Wholes. He got from one to three years in prison for lying about his membership in the Communist party in order to keep his confidential State Department job.

The Herald Tribune's precious friend, Carson Kanin, 34 years old and safe out of a soft job in the war, said he "couldn't remember" whether he ever was a member of the joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee which is as Red as a fire engine. But then he apparently thought the better of that evasion for he quickly said he was "willing to say yes."

Kanin testified that he and Marzani fought the battle of Washington for 18 months until he went overseas in May, 1944, and that the spy had a nice reputation for "peace and good order and being a law-abiding citizen."

His own credibility must be judged by the fact that Kanin, a very smart Broadway fellow, who has been a member of an awful lot of committees, did not know that the joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee was "in any way Communist." It has now been adjudged even by our Department of Justice, and Communist or not, the H-T's house pet, under the Barnes administration, was, by his own admission, a member of this vicious, Communist political agency which financed the return to Yugoslavia of Tito, the puppet, who wantonly murdered those five unarmed, trusting American army flyers.

Howard Barnes made an interesting spectacle of himself in his "review" of Stewart's play. He finally brought himself to admit that, although it had an "electrical theatrical quality," there had been a "short-circuit."

Meanwhile, the Henry Wallace political front, the so-called Progressive Citizens of America, canvassed the Red, sucker lists of New York trying to sell tickets to a "benefit" performance. The faithful were asked to pay $20 for a $4.80 ticket to a dismal bore, the margin to be the Red front's rake-off.

Vincent Sheehan, another fair-haired boy of the H-T's household under the influence of the "radical" Mr. Barnes and his "much-more-radical" wife, became "chairman" of a Red splinter called "Citizens to Safeguard the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee." He solicited money to defend Howard Fast, a notorious Communist and literary brain-picker, and ten others who were sentenced for contempt of the U. S. Congress in refusing to tell the truth about Mr. Kanin's dodge.

Sheehan said all this was just political persecution and the trademark of all ideological racketeers, an anti-Semitic move by Congress.

Corvettes to Be Scrapped At Yard in Rondout

The Storm King Steel Corporation of this city has purchased two corvettes, which it will bring to its Kingston dock as soon as weather permits for dismantling and salvaging, a company spokesman said today.

The corvettes are small warships used during the war as destroyer escorts. They were built in Canada for the Royal Navy. At present the ships are at Jones Point in the Hudson.

On Monday Peter Burns, head of the corporation, was in New York city on business pertaining to the transport of the two ships to Kingston. It is expected they will be brought here in a few weeks, unless hindered by the weather.

Principle of Liberalism et al Applied to Broadcasting Is Not to Liking of Radicals Around Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 3.—There's lots of talk on "Liberalism" and "Civil Rights" and "Free Speech" emanating from radicals hereabouts, but when it comes to applying the principle to radio broadcasting, their idea seems to be to restrict it or to let the government apply virtual censorship or to regulate it by government decree.

The opposition, which wants the radio opened up so that opinions can be expressed freely, is considered "reactionary" or at least that is the main basis of the present edict—the fear that private companies owning radio stations may not be bold of the radicals and may possibly introduce a conservative point of view once in a while.

Actually it is amazing that in free America the question of whether radio stations shall be permitted to express editorial opinions should be debated. Maybe Moscow papers had better not notice the hearing going on now. Maybe the fact that the Federal Communications Commission, a government agency, forbids editorial expressions—which will be a surprise to most Americans—ought to be concealed lest the Communists cry "hypocrisy."

But the truth is that an owner of a radio station cannot express his views "at large" as editor or owner of a newspaper or periodical. The excuse for all this is that the wave lengths are limited in number and hence the government must regulate their use. Now there are plenty of channels. Multiplicity has resulted from inventions. The original idea was that regulation should merely prevent mechanical collision or interference and that wave lengths or "frequencies" should be allocated to stations that could perform program service. Gradually the Federal Communications Commission usurped the power given to it by Congress to handle mechanical allocations and insisted on going into program content.

It is denied, of course, that the commission does this but when it issues an order forbidding editorial expressions there can be no doubt about the implied censorship of views.

The argument is advanced that radio is different from newspapers or periodicals, that persons of limited knowledge and intelligence could be easily misled by agitators and that the government must always keep control. This is but another way of saying that the people of America cannot be trusted and that democracy is dangerous.

In the course of the last several years many agitators have, by one means or another, gotten a hearing on the radio. The people sometimes turn off these speakers or listen with cautious tolerance. America has not suffered because of the free expressions of opinions that have come from programs with speakers on controversial subjects.

To say that the owner may not express an opinion over his own radio station or hire any speaker to express views on current questions but that he may permit outside speakers to express editorial views is to split hairs. Yet this is exactly what the ruling of the Federal Communications Commission does.

The contention is made that the ruling should require an owner of a station to allow time for "both sides." Publishers do this through letters from readers and by printing the news which day by day contains plenty of expressions of editorial opinions in the form of interviews by opposing sides. Often one side gets printed one day, and it is several days before there is a reply. The owner of a publication doesn't feel that this delay is his responsibility. It may be bad public relations for the protagonist but the delay is not the responsibility of the medium of expression.

A sensible owner of a radio station will try to get both sides or lose public patronage, but to impose a government rule requiring him to do so is to edit the program of his station. It is better to allow the occasional instances of abuse than to permit the enforcement by law to regulate so-called "impartiality" or to say what is "both sides." Often there are a dozen sides to a controversy.

It was the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, late Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States—the greatest liberal of them all—who defined freedom of speech as "freedom for the thought we hate." Maybe the governmental agencies which call themselves liberal do not know the true meaning of that quote. It is surprising also to find the American Civil Liberties Union forgetting that definition, too, and insisting at the hearings on a continuance of government censorship by means of regulated programs.

Editor, The Freeman:
The New York Times news story on the destruction of civil liberties of the freedom loving Czechoslovakian people said, "At the same time though control was being tightened throughout the country, with the press brought completely under the combination of the Ministry of Information, magazines suppressed and editors expelled from the association of journalists. The Communist Premier, Mr. Gottwald, said that the purge, which has been underway throughout the country, must be deep and uncompromising."

The seizure of Czechoslovakia is a continuation of the avowed Marxian purpose of taking over, by force, if necessary, all of Europe, Asia and then the world. In 1939, the Allied nations went to war for the same reason—the destruction of freedom by another totalitarian power. This war proved to be the most disastrous war in history. The

Justice Schirick and Jury Hear Two $50,000 Actions

Two $50,000 actions were taken up in Supreme Court Tuesday before a jury and Justice Harry E. Schirick.

The actions arise out of a two-car accident on November 24, 1946, at Barclay Heights, Saugerties, when the Pontiac car of Harold T. Gray of Warren Point, N. J., and the Olds car of Charles W. Dyce were in collision while Gray was en route to Kingston from Albany and Dyce was on his way home from Kingston to Saugerties. In the Gray car was Miss Anne C. Peterson of Newark, N. J., a former resident of Leeds, Greene county.

Miss Peterson was called to the stand Tuesday afternoon and testified that she had sustained permanent injuries which prevented her from continuing her duties as office manager at a Newark luncheon. She and Gray, friends of long standing, had gone to Leeds to the old homestead and then drove to Albany. At the time of the accident they were on their way to Kingston. Miss Peterson seeks $50,000 damages contending her injuries are permanent. She suffered a severe fracture of the leg, hand injuries which prevented her continuing her former work as a secretary and she also suffered numerous cuts about the face, hands and legs. Miss Peterson sues the drivers of both cars, but contends the accident was due to the negligence of Dyce and she testified on the stand that just prior to the accident the Gray car was being operated on its own side of the road at a moderate speed. Rendered unconscious by the crash, she said she did not know anything about the accident until she regained consciousness in the hospital four or five days after the accident. The car of Dyce, she said, she never saw before the accident.

Gray brings an action for $50,000 against Dyce on the grounds of negligence, alleging that not only was his car wrecked when the Dyce car came across to the left of the road and struck the Dyce car, but he also alleges that he has been unable to work since the accident and has been permanently injured. Gray contends the accident was due solely to the negligence of the driver of the Dyce car.

It is admitted by Dyce that his car did strike the Gray car over on the left of the road, but he contends that the accident was not due to his negligence but to a break of some part of his car. Dyce, a mechanic, claims he purchased the Olds, a 1933 model, some weeks prior to the accident and had repairs made to the car to make it safe. He claims he also did work on the car to place it in good condition and that he used the car daily for several weeks prior to the accident and it was in good condition mechanically.

While driving northerly toward Saugerties on Sunday, November 24, 1946, he claims he was traveling at a modest speed when he heard a noise and the steering gear became useless. His car went over to the left to the south bound lane of traffic and struck the Gray car. Mr. Dyce contends the accident was unavoidable and was caused through no negligence on his part and that he is therefore not legally responsible for the unfortunate injuries. Mr. Dyce was also rendered unconscious but was not seriously injured.

Miss Peterson testified she had been unable to work since the accident and expended large sums for medical aid. Her injuries have been of such a nature that only about two or three weeks ago was she able to go to work and now is on trial in an office. She has been unable to resume her original job which paid her $47.25 a week. Gray also has expended large sums for medical aid and is still unable to work. At the time of the accident he was not employed, being ill at that time, but he alleges he was formerly employed on a shipyard and also as a laundry salesman and made good wages.

The accident was investigated by Troopers J. L. Duffy, Rny Dunn and C. E. Bailey from the Lake Katrine State Police barracks.

Arthur E. Ewig of Cashin and Ewig appears for Miss Peterson, N. LeVan Haver appears for Harold T. Gray and James E. Carroll appears for Charles W. Dyce.

Severe Winter Has Taken Toll of Trees Of Exotic Type

Exotic trees brought up from the South probably have suffered severe injury because of the cold winter in the northern part of the United States, but hardy native trees should come through unscathed.

Dr. F. A. Bartlett, of the Bartlett Tree Expert Company at Stamford, Conn., listed among the exotics likely to suffer most the persimmon, the Himalayan pine, the Cedar of Lebanon, horse chestnut, and the English sweet cherry. Also included are boxwood hedges and evergreen magnolias.

Many holly trees also have been hard hit this winter.

"The danger to these trees," Dr. Bartlett explained, "lies not in a quick freeze, but in sustained low temperatures to which they are not acclimated."

Most of them come through normal winters in the northeastern United States, but this winter has been below normal.

Evidence of winter injury shows up in early spring. Many exotics are killed outright, and some plants are concerned. Dr. Bartlett said, "The snow has been a protective covering for the roots and has permitted them to absorb much needed moisture."

High green reductions in modern cars make it all the more necessary to keep tires properly inflated to avoid that "rubbery" steering effect.

Yuletide Lonelines Caused Star, 18, To Quit Her Role

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 3 (AP)—Back in 1928 Mrs. Don Barringer was "just a kid away from home."

"It was Christmas time and I was alone in New York. I just packed a bag and went home to Tennessee. I know it sounds crazy," she said.

Mrs. Barringer, now a wife and mother of two boys and two girls, was known at that time throughout the country as Helen Munday. She rated as one of the top actresses of the silent screen and a graduate stage trouper—at the age of 18.

Today she's a typical housewife at the nearby small town of Schoolcraft, Mich. She cooks, shops, sews and looks after her four teen-age children.

Up to the time she decided to become a housewife, Mrs. Barringer's career was the literal fulfillment of any movie-struck schoolgirl's dream.

At the age of two she began learning to dance at her home town of Knoxville, Tenn., and as she grew up she began appearing in local entertainment programs.

George White, producer of "The Scandals," saw her dance at a Knoxville Kiwanis meeting. Although she was only 14, he booked her immediately for his road show.

For two years she toured with "The Scandals," sharing billings with the headliners. Then a movie talent scout spotted her.

Almost overnight Helen Munday was cast as leading lady in a movie epic called "Stark Love." She had claimed a perfect find for her role—an alluring hillbilly heroine.

Became Glamour Girl

When "Stark Love" became a success, Helen—then 16—became familiar to millions of moviegoers as a glamour girl in a saucy hat. In subsequent films she was starred with William Powell, Lois Wilson and Ricardo Cortez.

Then came the touch of Christmas homesickness. Helen Munday went back to Tennessee and never returned to the screen.

For a short time she made personal appearances in several states and on one of these she met Don Barringer, a Kalamazoo orchestra leader. Two hours later they were married—another event that had big newspaper and magazine play.

Mr. and Mrs. Barringer spent a year on tour together. In 1929 their first child, Donna, was born. Later came Don (1930), Janet (1931) and Bobbie (1933).

Young Don, slated for graduation this year from Schoolcraft High School, is a star football and basketball player.

The elder Don Barringer is employed by a Kalamazoo department store and still fills engagements as a trumpet player with a local orchestra.

"Actually," said Mrs. Barringer, "I never had time to think about going back to pictures. And now with my family, my friends and my home here in Schoolcraft, I am quite content.

"But it was fun while it lasted."

Will Die in Chair

New York, March 3 (AP)—Samuel (Tito) Williams, 19-year-old Negro, today was doomed to death in Sing Sing prison's electric chair despite a jury recommendation of mercy. Williams was convicted of the bludgeoning slaying of a Brooklyn high school girl. The death sentence was imposed yesterday by Judge Louis Goldstein who said he was disregarding the clemency recommendation on the ground that the youth was a "dangerous criminal" and a "menace" to society. He was convicted of killing 15-year-old Selma Craft with an iron bar when she surprised him as he was attempting to burglarize her home.

Pythons Cause Scare

Reading, Pa., March 3 (AP)—The crash of a carnival truck which overturned near Reading was at first considered just a routine police matter. Residents learned yesterday, however, that the carcass of a 10-foot python had been found in the wreckage of the truck. And to make matters worse, it also was learned that another python had apparently escaped after the crash. Police had a comforting word to offer. The big snake probably died somewhere near the scene because of the cold weather. Reading townspeople were hoping today the police were right.

Fitzpatrick Says Democrats Would Remove Embargo

New York, March 3 (AP)—The Democratic State Committee, its chairman says, will urge President Truman to lift the embargo on shipment of arms to Palestine and support formation of a volunteer or United Nations Police Force for the Holy Land.

The committee's position on the Palestine issue was stated at a news conference yesterday by Paul E. Fitzpatrick, Fitzpatrick announced simultaneously that he would be a candidate to succeed himself as state chairman when the committee meets again next month.

His statement followed a meeting Monday with Mayor William O'Dwyer and other Democratic leaders.

The Democratic leader accused Republicans for opposing the Marshall Plan and charged that Third Party Candidate Henry A. Wallace "stands for what has happened in Czechoslovakia."

Despite offers of the state Democratic minority to work with Republicans on a non-partisan basis, nothing has been accomplished for the farmers and the "hard-pressed" municipalities and "next to nothing" for public schools, Fitzpatrick said.

The Democrats, he added, will continue to work for increased unemployment benefits, adequate state health insurance, child care centers, which he said were "abandoned by a ruthless administration," and additional school aid to municipalities.

Fitzpatrick dismissed as a "very valuable lesson" to the Democrats the victory of American Labor Party Candidate Leo Isaacson in last month's 24th District Congressional election. Isaacson had the support of Wallace.

Girl Scout Drive Members Chosen In Ulster County

At the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council Monday Kenneth Davenport, chairman of the finance campaign and initial gifts, expressed his pleasure in the cooperation of members of the initial gifts committee for the drive. The Girl Scouts have as their goal $12,000 the amount necessary for the financing of the overall Girl Scout program for the county and the setting up of Camp Wendy at Walkkill for next season.

Davenport named the following as members of the Kingston Committee: Mrs. Henry Page, Herbert DeKay, George Kernochan, Fred Yaussi, George Shivery, Harry Rigby, Joseph Fassbender, Allan Hanstein and N. Mexican Cities and Villages

Studied by Sorosis Members

Sorosis met with Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, 12 West Chestnut street, Monday afternoon when a paper on the cities and villages of Mexico prepared by Mrs. George Kurnochian was read by Mrs. Theron Culver. She also sent some dolls dressed in Mexican fashion, examples of bead work, embroidery, blouse and skirt designed in Mexico. Mrs. Lewis had a number of little dolls in Mexican costumes.

The paper described several of the cities and means of transportation which could be used. She spoke first of the capital, Mexico City, with two million people making it the largest city in the world situated at the altitude of 7,200 feet. She spoke of the modern buildings and the cathedral, department stores and the life of the people. There is a retire for the night at 10 or 11 o'clock because of exhaustion from the high altitude.

Other cities mentioned were Villa Obregon with its view of twin volcanoes and the large lava flow and site of the oldest known civilization on the American continent; Guadalupe with population of 200,000, center of folk music and dancing, and home of a remarkable orphanage, not mentioned according to the usual institutional lines; Monterey, industrial city; Vera Cruz, tropical port and beach resort; Puebla, the number of churches; Casaca, Spanish city; Texaco with variety of scenery, silver mining, and situated on steep hills; and Cuernavaca where water supply is piped from mountain streams.

The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. A. W. Mollitt, 242 Manor avenue, March 15.

SAUCERS PREFERRED TO PLATES

The hostess who tells me that she is giving a larger tea than her house will accommodate comfortably explains further: "If many people come in at one time, they will have to stand around. I think it would be impossible to manage the cup and saucer and tea plate held in one hand and there certainly won't be much space left on the table for sandwiches and cookies. Under these circumstances, wouldn't you suggest that the cup be stood right on a plate and the saucer dispensed with?"

If you mean little tea plates, there is no more room on them than there is on a saucer or, if you mean an unmatching dinner plate, the cup, with no groove to hold it, slides around as well as looks might. Remember that sandwiches and cakes at tea parties should be very small and two or three can be placed easily on the edge of the average teacup saucer.

Formal Gown

Dear Mrs. Post: I am 16 years old and a junior in high school. I am going to my first prom in April and would like very much to wear a black taffeta evening dress trimmed in plaid taffeta. I have been told that I am too young to wear black and that taffeta is a full material. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: Black taffeta used to be considered unsuitable for teenage girls, but today it is fashionable and, therefore, it would be quite all right for you to wear. Since taffeta is not a seasonal fabric, it can be worn in the spring as well as fall.

Guests of Receiving Officers

Dear Mrs. Post: Our class is giving a ball for graduation at which the class officers are expected to receive. We would like to know what our boy friends are supposed to do while we are receiving. Someone suggested that they receive with us, but this does not seem right to me. Will you advise us?

Answer: They dance or talk with others while you are receiving. As soon as you are free, they, of course, join you.

Lounging Pajamas

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct time to wear lounging pajamas?

Answer: At home, when lounging.

Do you know the "finger foods"?

Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-16, "Table Rules of Importance," gives fundamental rules for eating hard-to-manage foods. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Two States Are Discussed
In Olympian Club Papers

Two papers were given at Olympian Club meeting Monday night with the Misses Mary and Isabel Hale 13 Orchard street, one on Wisconsin and the other, Utah.

She said it was one of the best developed states along the lines of agriculture and science and spoke especially of Milwaukee where she has lived as being a clean city and called the nation's "safest city."

Mrs. Florence Campbell said that Utah was named for an Indian tribe, the Ute, and spoke of the wonderful work in reclaiming the land and making it one of the best agricultural states. Eight Teams Represented at First Meeting of Twilight League

Possibility of 10 Teams Again Seen by Managers

Eight teams were represented at the first meeting of the City Baseball League last night at Warren Smith's office and the enthusiasm displayed by the managers reflected keen interest in the 1943 campaign.

The possibility of another 10-team loop was discussed, since the West Shore and Stauble Bakery squads of last year's set-up were not represented and the Veterans of Foreign Wars have applied for a franchise.

Warren Smith, who was chairman of the meeting in his capacity of holdover president, said the next meeting would be held on March 15 at which time the league will be formally organized. Team rosters and franchise dues must be submitted by that time.

The teams represented last night were:

Morgan's Restaurant—Bill Ball, Coach; Joe Roach.

Frank's Sport Shop—Joe Watzek.

Boulevard Gulf—Bob Gulnick.

Knights of Columbus—Ed Murphy.

Hofbrau—Charlie Francello.

7-Up—Julius Chick.

Nothing definite was settled at last night's meeting, Smith said.

The election of officers and selection of umpires will be discussed at the next session.

It was reported that Bill Schwab and Bill Murphy have indicated a desire to return to the umpire fold.

Crack Field Set For Casey Games Saturday Night

New York, March 3 (AP)—Star-studded fields were filled today for the mile, two-mile, 600 and 1,000 yard runs at the annual Knights of Columbus indoor games Saturday.

One of the four feature races, the K. of C. 1,000, brings together Reggie Pearman of N.Y.U. and Phil Higgins of Seton Hall for the third time. Higgins won from Pearman in the National A.A.U. indoor meet, but the N.Y.U. ace reversed the verdict in the IC4A championships last Saturday.

Roscoe Brown of Pioneer Club, Phil O'Connell of Manhattan, Dave Smith of Georgetown, and Joe Nowicki of New York A.C. complete the lineup.

Six were lined up for the Casey 600, headed by Jamaica's world quarter mile champion, Herb McKenley and Villanova's George Guida, one-time national indoor 600-yard titlist. In addition there will be Hugh Short, Pioneer Club; Frank Fox, Seton Hall; Jim Gilheavy, N.Y.U.; and Royce Crimmin, Brown.

Penn State's Gerry Karver, who holds all major U. S. outdoor mile titles, will oppose four crack distance men in the Frank A. Brennan Columbus mile. They are the N.Y.C.'s Tommy Guiry, National A.A.U. indoor champion; John Tomoney, Roseville, Ill.; Browning Ross, Villanova; and Bill Hulse, N.Y.A.C.

Giant Homers "Ring" the Bell

Phoenix, Ariz., March 3 (AP)—Festooning a finger of Johnny Mize and each of his New York Giants teammates is a large hunk of gold ring bearing the magic number "221"—in bold, raised figures. The boys are proud of the rings, which President Horace Stoneham had quarried especially for them after they belted more home runs last year than anyone in baseball had thought possible.

Their 221 blasts into and over the stands shattered the previous big league record of 182 set by the Yankees of 1938, which had been considered unassailable.

Now the members of the same wrecking crew are talking openly of going onward and upward during the coming campaign—of hitting maybe 250 four-masters and setting a mark which may remain forever beyond the reach of ball players.

Stoneham is game: "I'm in shape," he declared, "and I feel confident I can go on buying rings with high numbers as long as the boys keep their strength."

Around the Nation's Female Tenpin Wheels: Mrs. Alberta Crowe's latest WIBC (Women's International Bowling Congress) publicity release reveals the Liverpool, N. Y. tub thumper at her articulate best. . . . Miss Ann Sabolowski bounded into women's bowling prominence on Jan. 27th when she blasted out games of 280, 233 and 255 for a mighty 768 total, to take over top rung in the nation's honor roll for high individual totals. . . . Her score also places her in third position in the all-time W.I.B.C. ratings. . . . Joan Radtkin of Indianapolis holds first place with 775 scored in 1934 and Gertrude Bradley of Indianapolis is second with 770. . . . Weaker sex? . . . Nertz.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

It's getting close to the deadline for entry to the WIBC tournament in Dallas. Entries close at midnight, February 16th and not a team from Kingston. . . . Shame, shame, with one of the best female bowlers in the country residing here and not a single team to Dallas. . . . The WIBC incidentally expects a record breaking entry for the Lone Star tourney. A rare tournament oddity was reported by Dorothy Borman, Chicago city tournament official, when Marge DeBerard, a Class A bowler rolled 517 in her singles, 517 in the doubles and 517 in the team event. . . . The crack Fanatorium Majors of Grand Rapids, Michigan, have rolled the following series since Dec. 15: 2933, 2977, 2913, 2961 and 2969. . . . This team was organized by Minnie Sackerman, secretary of Michigan State Women's Bowling Assn., 14 years ago. She has been captain of the team all these years and has always bowled on her own. . . . Rolling her first 500 score the hard way, Mary Huffman of Toledo, Ohio, shot 189, 189, 189. . . . Sixty-nine year old Clara Goodyear, who holds a 123 average, travels with the Sedro Woolley Bowling Center team and bowls in all the doubles and singles tournaments held in the Northwest, is the toast of Sedro Woolley, Washington.

The Secretary Hits One:

Answering the "needles" in a previous bulletin, WIBC Secretary Emma Phaler remembers having 600 totals but not lately. However, she has credentials, and is eligible for the newly formed "600" Club. . . . "Emma" as she is fondly called by her many friends still retains a great deal of her bowling form. On Dec. 15 she converted the 8-10 split. . . . She never saw it made in her head bowling career and has seen some bowling, but she had to show herself it can be done. . . . The Forsberg and Hoover team of the Southwestern Recreation Monday Night Ladies' League lost 36 games without any victories in the current season. . . . The Detroit Women's Bowling Association has set up an all-time record state tournament with 1007 teams, 1200 doubles, 2070 singles. . . . The state, a hotbed of bowling, has 840 leagues to date with 30,306 members.

Los Angeles Gals Lead the Country:

The highest series rolled in the nation to date belongs to the Ohren and Sons Sportwear of Los Angeles, Cal., with 3021. . . . In second place are the Kornitz Oils of Milwaukee with 3002. The leaders follow:

Pro Hockey Resumes Inquiry On Basis of New Evidence

Lansing, Mich., March 3 (AP)—Armed with evidence turned over to him by Michigan authorities, a full-scale investigation into reported gambling in hockey was launched today by National Hockey League President Clarence S. Campbell.

He said players of two National League teams were implicated, with the indications, however, that the "gambling activities were of a limited nature." The players were not named in the evidence.

But he added that "warrants expulsions without a doubt." Campbell was given the confidential information by Detroit Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy on orders of Governor Kim Sigler following a conference of state, Detroit and Hockey officials here yesterday.

The hockey official, following a private hasty examination of the material, said that it "does not indicate anything beyond what has already been described in the press."

He arranged trips to Chicago, Boston and New York to "gather further information to support that which I have now received."

Findings Monday

He agreed to report his findings to Sigler next Monday, adding he reserved the right to make suspensions any time he felt justified.

Campbell said that "nothing implicates the Chicago Black Hawks." He would not amplify.

The governor also gave Campbell permission to talk to James (Oco) Tamer, a gambler and convicted bank robber who was returned to southern Michigan prison last week as a parole violator.

Campbell said "it might be advisable" to do so.

It was the arrest of Tamer which touched off the inquiry and brought to light charges that hockey players had placed bets on games.

Besides Campbell, hockey was represented at the conference by Weston Adams, president of the Boston Bruins; Aubrey (Dit) Clapper, Bruins coach; and Jack Adams, general manager of the Detroit Red Wings. None of them spoke.

Leaders Drop 2nd in 17 Games

Fullers Sports upset Sickler's Delivery, 43-32, in the Y League last night, handing the league leaders their second loss in 17 games and tightening the circuit race which is due to end on March 15.

In other games, Otto Clippers turned back a stubborn Skyline quintet, 51-46, and Chez Emile romped over Wiltwyck Motors, 54-35.

Fullers were off fast against the Deliverymen and never relinquished an early lead. With Charlie Bock setting the pace, the shirt makers moved out in front 16-9 at the half.

Bock tallied 14 points, while Garland and Ed Bock shared 15. Murphy III was in his usual role of high scorer for Sicklers with 18.

Riggins of Skyline accounted for 20 points and Osterhoudt had 16 in a gallant but futile effort to keep their club in the running against the powerful Clippers.

Percy Greene tossed in 15 and B. Towillinger 16 for the Otters. "Pink" McElrath's 16 points were high for Chez Emile against Wiltwycks. Tony Albany bucketed 10. McGane and Freer had nine and 10 respectively for Wiltwycks.

Bowling

Belcher's moved into a two-game lead with nine games remaining in the Independent League last night by winning a pair from Stone Ridge, while Calitans were registering a spectacular three-game upset of Jump's Market.

P. Joseph Belcher, ye olde sports editor, was top dog with 230 single and 552 for his own squad. Knute Belcher knocked out 201-553, E. Marks 184-543; R. Kubicki 188-536; L. Roosa 184-543; Ed Trombley and Orville "Pop" Van Alstyne were the chief perpetrators of Jump's debacle.

Trombley posted 588 with 223 and 197, while Van Alstyne knocked out 213-580; C. Davis 214-543. Roland Post of Martin's Market hammered out a 213-576 of 207; Claude Middagh had 202-549; Bobby Jones 211-560; Don Vogel 205-571; and Charlie Gruenwald 243-580.

Dittus Tops Freeman

John Dittus, Jr. and Harold Steeger paced the Freeman League klegers with 492 and 486 respectively. Dittus had high solo of 184 to Steeger's 168. Charlie Diers was third man with 473.

The American League exhibition shooters won a 72-pin victory over the Independent Married Men in a special match at the Central Recs, shooting 2580 to 2508 for the opposition. Top shooters were Mike Milano 209-535, Vince Cleary 191-556; Larry Jacobs 204-532 and Ben Marcus 187-540.

Mayone Cracks 845

Ralph Mayone, the stellar anchor of Local 188 in the City Minor League, blasted a 645 triple Monday night to highlight a brisk scoring session in the intermediate league.

Mayone, one of the two top rookies of the season, fired games of 293, 204 and 208 on the high scoring 15 and 16 drives "down-stroke."

The league produced 15 triples of "500" or better with the top efforts including Van Bramer's 181-534; Harry Secreto 204-582; Provenzano 213-572; Ken McGrath 231-534; Ken Newell 198-565; Ben Sklon 221; Larry Jacobs 203-572; Tom Parker 206-571; Joe Mitchell 203-564.

Clark Mauer and Joe Dulin also sparked with 596 and 590, shooting 226 and 194 solos.

Flemings Sizzles

George "44" Flemings made sure there would be no repetition of that horrendous debacle in this week's City League session. As a matter of fact, at the end of two games "Curly" had almost exceeded that historic total with games of 222 and 214. He added

Allen Dinner At 7 P.M.

The time for the Kingston Athletic Association's third annual "Hot Stove League" dinner at The Barn tonight has been changed to 7 p. m. in order to conform with Mel Allen's traveling schedule. It was announced this morning.

All persons holding tickets are advised to note the change of starting time.

A final check last night revealed that approximately 250 persons will attend the banquet. In addition to Allen, popular New York Yankee broadcaster, the speakers will include Alderman-at-Large Charles J. Turck, and Bill Lohrman. Bowlings gift to vaudeville, Al Cirillo, will be the master of ceremonies.

The entertainment bill includes Lee Barnett, Clementine Nease, Mrs. Jessie Wolfersteig, the Rev. Father John Brown and Cassi Casano of The Barn. Dancing will follow.

Phoenicia Quintet Desires Bookings

The Phoenicia basketball club is seeking road and home bookings for the remainder of the season. The club plays at home on Tuesdays and Fridays. Teams desiring games with Phoenicia are requested to call Frank Hanigan, manager, phone 171, or write him Box 202, Phoenicia.

Tellier Trips East, 125-111

Jules Tellier fiddled his way to a close 125-111 victory over Bob East after nearly blowing a 50-point lead in last night's city pocket billiard match at the Kaslich Parlor.

The victory was Tellier's third straight without a loss. East's record is now one and one. Both players had high runs of 15. East furnished the dramatics by playing steady, conservative pool that almost overcame Tellier's big margin.

Defending champion Clifton Quick tangles with Harry Markle in tonight's attraction at 7:30.

Y Mid-Hudson Tournament Set March 16 or 18

With 12 teams already in the fold and an entry list of 20 anticipated, the Kingston Mid-Hudson Valley Basketball Tournament sponsored by the Kingston Y.M.C.A., will open on March 16 or 18, depending on the exact number of teams registered. Physical Director Lou Schafer said this morning.

The 12 teams already registered include: Catskill Boys' Club, Catskill A.C. (a combined squad of Catskill High and St. Patrick's Academy); Hudson Black Taxis, Stamford American Legion, Coeyman's Legion, Milton, Pine Plains Merchants, Saugerties Amrods, Kerhonkson Otto Clippers, Chez Emile, Fuller Sports and Sickler's Delivery.

Others Expected

Schafer said there was good chance that the following teams would be in the fold by Thursday: Williams Social Club and Pastime A. C. of Newburgh; Highland American Legion, Montgomery Legionnaires, Maybrook Legion, Arlington A.C., Liberty Cabs of Poughkeepsie, Hudson Boys' Club Alumni, Stockport, Coxsackie Legion, Downsville Legion, Rosendale Valley Inn and Dawkins Favorites.

A complete set-up of the playing dates of these teams will be completed over the week-end. The exact night of the opening of the tournament depends on the number of entries.

There will be three or four nights of preliminary play at the local Y.M.C.A. and seven nights at the City Auditorium. There are 12 different referees contacted for this event; all of which are the better known officials of the Mid-Hudson Valley Certified Group.

Kingston Fans Will Witness Wallace-Teague

The amateur heavyweight "dream contest" that was once scheduled for Kingston boxing fans—the Coley Wallace vs. Terry Teague clash—will be held in the semi-final round of the Tournament of Champions Golden Gloves competition at Madison Square Garden tonight.

According to reports several Kingston amateur boxing followers are making the snow covered safari to the Garden.

John "Spider" Thompson, of Buffalo, is in the semi-finals of the 126-pound division, against Eddie Marsh, of Pittsburgh. Thompson defeated the sensational Billy Hazel of New York in a quarter final bout last night.

Wallace, who drew a bye last night, was unimpressive in a first round contest against a Massachusetts slugger. He had to come from behind to win.

Teague, on the other hand, has breezed through two bouts. The winner of the Teague-Wallace clash is favored to capture the finals and eventually represent the United States in the heavyweight division of the Olympics.

The Grapefruit Circuit

Sarasota, Fla., March 3 (P)—The question of who will play third and short for Boston's Red Sox still is a mystery. Manager Joe McCarthy had Johnny Pesky and Vern Stephens working at short with Bill Hitchcock and Johnny Ostrowski at third yesterday.

Bradenton, Fla., March 3 (P)—Boston Brave Pitcher Johnny Sain still is a holdout at his Pine Bluff, Ark., home despite a reported $25,000 offer. The righthanded flinger, a 20-game winner last year, is the only major holdout on the club. Mike McCormack, Bama Rowell, Nanny Fernandez and Al Treichel also are unsigned.

Ciudad Trujillo, D. R., March 3 (P)—Preston Ward, rookie first sacker up from Pueblo of the Western League, highlighted the Brooklyn Dodgers' initial infield drill. The 21-year-old first sacker looked especially good in a batting drill.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 3 (P)—The New York Yankees may be without the services of right-hander Bill Bevens for six weeks. Bevens injured his right leg off-climbing a basketball game three weeks ago and Dr. Signey Gaynor, team physician, diagnosed the trouble as a pulled muscle.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 3 (P)—Only shortstop Buddy Kerr and relief pitcher Ken Trinkle are out of the New York Giants fold today.

Bob Thomson, slugging Giant outfielder, came to terms yesterday and joined the team in their second workout of the season.

Jansen Leads Emericks

Ho! Hum! Marge Jansen led the Emericks Ladies League again.... Rolling steadily, the Mayorette leadoff fired games of 180, 184 and 189 for 553. The only competitor was Evelyn Dolson who knocked off 525 with 153, 171 and 201.

In the top bracket were Dot Rawding with 192-497; Bertha Schaller 170-480; Fay Horne 174-491; Etta Glinder 193-490; Tess Moss 191-499.

Bowling Scores

Charlie Horne and W. Ferguson were the big guns in the Y National Church loop with 574 and 571 respectively. Horne, of the First Dutch No. 2 knocked off scores of 221, 190 and 163, while Ferguson was pinning 200, 167 and 204.

Also in the "500" bracket were Meyer 183-517; Burt Burr 191-506; Ed Marks 193-539.
